"When the train pulled into the station I turned over my safe and the balance of my run to the agent, but did not go with him to the office to check in as usual. As soon as I left the train I followed Ohlweller to a saloon. We went into a back room, where he took one of the packages from my pocket, tore off the wrapper and stuffed the money in his pocket. I acted in a like manner with the other package. We then walked to Moline, three miles distant, and spent the day at a picnic on the ottakirts of town. That night we took a Burlington train to Galesburg, Ill.

"I knew all the train crew, but nothing was said to me about the robbery. From Galesburg we went to Kingfisher, O. T. I went there to find my brother, who used to run a store there, but found he had moved away. We traveled around that part of the country for several weeks and one night Ohlweller robbed me of most of my part the money while I was asleep. I have never seen him since, nor have I any idea where he is. After that I went to Kansas City and from there to Denver. My life was miserable all the time, as I expected to be arrested every minute. I have not had a single good night's rest since the robbery.

From His Pasterate.

A new pastor has been engaged to succeed the Rev. W. E. Black in the pulpit of the Rev. W. E. Black in the pulpit of the Bruil Gospel Tabernacle at Nineteenth and Morgan streets. He is Rev. Horace Houlding, who will conduct the meetings there each evening and Wednesday and Sunday afternoons. He was recently engaged in missionary work in Illinois and is expected to arrive in time to take charge of to-night's meeting.

The reason given for the removal of Rev. Black is that the members of the Alliance found he was not one of them and not thoroughly in accord with their teachings. "The members of the church believe that the errors we see around us are among the signs of the last days," said Mrs. Clara B. Five Men Held Up a Train in Mich-

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 11 .- Five men flagged and held up in the piece of woods near the crossing over the Kalamazoo River at 9 o'clock last night the Chicago known as the fiyer, which leaves Chicago at 6 p. m. and is due here at 10:40. When the train stopped and Conductor E. E. the train stopped and Conductor E. E. Rice stepped on the platform of the baggage car and asked two men standing near by what the trouble was both fired. He got back into the car. Other shots were sent into the engineer's cab, and in a jiffy two men had climbed on the locomotive and covered the engineer and fireman. Brakeman Timothy Murphy jumped off the rear platform of the train with a lantern, and was shot in the side by a fifth robber.

Last night's trains brought all the distinguished leaders, among whom were President James Bannerman of St. Louis, Senator F. M. Cockrell of Warrensburg, Gen Jo Shelby and others too numerous to mention. Confederate camps have arrived from Marshall, Lexington, Odessa, Sedalia and Kansas City. Every camp in the State has from one to a dozen representatives present. The weather is auspicious and the crowd large. Higginsville is literally covered with flags and bunting. The noon hour was celebrated in the grove on the home grounds by a mammoth barbecue of beef and mutton. The old Confederates and their friends have not yet finished up the bountiful repast. At 1 p. m. the speaking began, President Bannerman open-

Yesterday the Court was informed that the suit had been compromised, but the Court would not consent. The judge said: "I will not take notice of any such settlement. The case will have to be tried, and that by a jury composed one-half of women and the other half of men. I have been looking forward to the trial of this case with a great deal of interest, and it will be settled in no other way than by a trial."

Bemer is a clerk in the United States postal service. He is 28 years old and has belonged to what the colored people would call the swell set in their own circles. About three years ago he married alice Dorsey, daughter of Francis Dorsey, who figured so prominently some years ago in the fight against immorality in the public schools. The wedding was celebrated with a great sourish of triumph and was the swellest thing the colored people had ever participated in as principals. The couple have since been living with Dorsey.

Wednesday morning about 7 o'clock Bemer and his wife got into a quarrel. The man became infuriated and drew his revolver. They were then on the second floor rear room in the house. Mrs. Dorsey, the wife's mother, who is 62 years old, was in the room at the time.

Regardless of her presence Bemer began shooting at his wife. The first shot missed fire. The first shot missed fire again. The builder caught her in the left shoulder and screaming she fell to the ground. Special to The Post-Dispatch.

The Convention Nominates Ex-Gov. Campbell for Governor by Acclamation.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 21.—Ex-Gov.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 21.-The vote for silver amendment to the platform was: Ayes, 270; nays, 525; majority against who does not know that the gravity of the situation and the imminence of the peril was averted by the ropeal of the Sherman law. And the third, and in the Democratic heart the most desired, the repeal of the McKinley bill, was secured against the greatest obstacles and the Shercest and bitterest opposition, and in its place was passed a Democratic tariff bill, which will long stand as the law of the land.

I speak with some fullness of feeling and knowledge of this particular bill because I took great interest in it during its consideration by the Senate. Many of my Democratic friends in Ohlo were seriously disturbed, some of them indignant, at my course in the framing of that bill. Gentlemen of the convention, when sent by you and your associates to repeal the McKinley bill, we did not propose to return to you with the McKinley bill unrepealed if it lay within our power, and we did not.

We had also been sent by you to support the government of the United States, and to secure the best prosperity and happiness to the people of this country. This we could not do if we abolished all taxes and large appropriations, resulting in the bankruptoy of the United States treasury, and consequent uncertainty and ruin of all your business, financial and industrial machinery. We could therefore not consent to the passage of a bill which did not provide sufficient revenue. Had we done so the confidence of the country in the ability of the Democratic parity to administer the affairs of the government would have been desireyed. Many of you believed that the lincome tax should be put in the bill; some demanded it. I doubted its constitutionality. Had I felt certain that it was unconstitutionality that I felt certain that it was unconstitutionality and the provide sufficient revenue would have been raised during the past fiscal year to pay all the government out-go-en more.

With restored trade, however, it is now clear that the bill, even without the income tax, will provide about the amount of money that is required to carry o treme Republican protectionists, to again open a question which has nearly been adjusted upon Democratic lines.

But, gentlemen, there is another question in which great interest is felt about which there is great difference of opinion and concerning which we may hear more in this convention. It will perhaps not be regarded as out of place or improper for me as an individual Democrat, somewhat familiar with the discussion and the conditions, to make some suggestions in this convention which may be taken for what they are worth. I have a deep interest in the fortunes of the Democratic party in this State and in this county. I attended my first State convention in 1853, in the heat of the war, when we nominated Clement L. Vallandingham and George E. Pugh. I participated in the discussions from 1869 to 1876 on another branch of this money question, constantly endeavoring through all these years to have my fellow-Democrats come where we all finally did come, to a sound money platform, under the wise and able leadership of Samuel J. Tilden in 1878, and when I see to-day efforts being made to divide the great Democratic party just on the eve of its revival and resumption of power, on a theoretical and academical question in which no practical result is possible, I come to this convention to ask full consideration before taking passionate action. I come to urge the party in Ohio to stand on the platform of 1892 on the money question; to let the currency remain as it now is, and not to change our ground without full deliberation at a National Convention, and a deliverance from that body. I come to urge that declaration for free coinage of silver—lé to 1-made by this convention to would act with us.

A declaration in favor of free and unlimited coinage of silver—lé to 1-made by this convention would have no practical effect and it would mean an abandonment and disclaimer of the splendid results of your Democratic audinistration. You and I have possibly differed from Mr. Cleveland at some time and in some things, as it w place his party and his administration.

Do not understand me as suggesting the candidacy of President Cleveland for reelection. No such question is now before us. You have heard the Republican war cry. Their statement is that white both the tariff and sliver question will be discussed, neither will be the issue in the sense

The American people will in the end stand by us for home rule, that is to say, no interference by the National Government with the elections of the people; for sound tariff, that is to say, a tariff only made for sufficient revenue to carry on the Government economically administered; and for sound money, that is to say, a currency of which all dollars, whether paper or silver or gold, shall be interchangeable and equally good for their nominal par in the hands of every man, everywhere, and the Democratic party will be assured of a triumphant future;

Congressmn Byron Richie of Toledo presented the majority report on credentials, which scated the Brice delegates from all the contested counties. When that part of the report was read stating that the Campbell delegates from Butler county were seated unanimously there was hearty applause. Mr. Phillip Crow of Kenton presented a minority report to seat the anti-Brice delegation, the Cayahoga county, which includes the city of Cleveland. These reports were received with aiternating demonstrations of cheers and hisses. Mr. A. D. Weitsel presented a minority report to seat the anti-Brice delegates from Clark county, headed by John H. Thomas. These minority reports included more than the free sliver issue. The opposition to Senator Brice was also involved in them. John H. Clark of Youngstown, a radical gold man, delivered a phillipse in advocating the minority report of Mr. Crow, which favored the free silver delegates from Cuyahoga county, which were the most pronounced anti-Brice men at the convention.

Horace Alvord of Painesville made an elaborate argument for seating the anti-Brice delegates from Cuyahoga County and Frank Leblond of Cleveland was equally elaborate in defense of the Brice delegates. On motion of Thomas M. Paxton of Cincinnati the previous question was ordered, when the roll of eighty-eight counties was called on the adoption of the minority report to seat the anti-Brice men. There were 808 delegates, but Butler and Clark Counties refused to vote owing to contests in their own delegation. The roll-call resulted: Ayes 357; nays 339.

Whereupon the Brice delegates gave up their seats, amid mingled cheers and hisses, to the anti-Brice or free silver delegates from Cleveland. As there are fifty-nine delegates from Cuyahoga County, the result was received with great demonstrations by the minority, which had been defeated in all other preliminary contests. Horace Alvord of Painesville made an

THE PLATFORM.

The Democratic party of Ohio in conand pride to the wisdom of the action of the party in the last two years, and the results aptished according to its promises, to-wit:

The repeal of the Republican legislation known as the Sherman law, the un-American Federal election law and the McKinley law, from which repeals has resulted returning prosperity to the country to such an attent that even the Republicans are obliged to recognize the same.

We congratulate President Cleveland that his efforts in favor of the repeal of these vicious laws and the upholding of the credit of the country haye been successful.

We congratulate our S nator, Hon, Calvin 8. Brice, for the earnest and effective support he has given to the President in these matters.

When we consider the fact that the Democratic party received from the Republicans in 1892 a bankrupt Treasury, that it inherited from them the vicious currency and tariff laws which had prepared and finally produced the panie of 1853, we insist that it is entitled to the thanks of the people for the courage with which it was attacked and repealed these laws.

We reaffirm the following portion of the seventh plank of the platform of the last National Democratic Convention:

We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and to coin both gold and silver without discrimination against either metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal interchangeable and exchangeable value adjusted by international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals, and the equal power of sery dollar at all times in the payment of debts, and we demand that the paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin.

We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for the protection of farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and fluctuating currency.

We call the attention of the people to the methods and practices of bossism by which the Republican party in this State has been managed in the last few years, and for examples point to its history in Hamilton County, and to the final culmination of the same in the Zanesville convention, and we ask the people by their votes this fall to put their condemnation on such practices.

We denounce the last Legislature as corrupt and unwarter as the confidence of the power.

We view with alarm the large increase of indebtedness throughout the State by counties and municipalities, as authorized by the last Legislature, and the increase in the last few years in the tax rate, and we demand economy in expenditure and conservatism in the increase of debt.

The Fight on Quay.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 21.—The result of last night's Republican primaries was confirmed by conventions to-day. Interest centered in the selection of delegates to the State convention, of whom seventy were chosen. Of these the Quay people claim seventeen certain, with contest on five more.

In the county conventions the only opposition to the slate developed in the Recorder of Deeds convention, where Alex Crow, Jr., the leader of the Quay faction in the Fifteenth Ward, was placed in nomination against Wm. M. Geary, who is known as leader David Martin's personal candidate. Mr. Geary received 810 votes against 132 for Crow.

WEST END ATHLETIC CLUB. The New Organization Moving Well and Is in Good Shape.

The new West End Athletic Club is or the high road to success and the promoters are to be congratulated on the result of their hard and unceasing work to save the handsome club-house and grounds for the cause of athletics in St. Louis. Everything at the club-house is moving well and not a single complaint has been lodged against the management. There are fewer boys and more men about the building and consequently the place has assumed a more dignified air.

There is but one handleap on the management and that is the delinquency of some of the members for the first quarter's dues. A majority of the charter members have paid up, but there are many who have not and until they do so the burden will have to be borne by a few.

The directors have decided to rent track privileges to those who do not wish to join the club for $12 per year and have agreed that when 300 track members have applied they will be allowed the privileges for six months for $6 instead of being compelled to pay for an entire year.

The lists for track members are now being circulated and are being filled rapidly. Everything at the club-house is moving ecial to The Post-Dispatch. CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Aug. 21 .- The sec ond day's session of the Photographers' Association State Convention was a short, cussed, neither will be the issue in the sense of obscuring other questions; that the paramount issue upon which the battles of both this year and next will be fought will be the record of the Democratic party under President Cleveland; that the question will be whether it is to be indorsed and its policy continued or whether it shall be repudiated and its policy ended. We accept this, and on it will make our contest, and of the final judgment of the American people there can be no doubt.

The American people will in the end stand by us for home rule, that is to say, no interference by the National Government.

ROBBED A SICK WOMAN.

While Mrs. Margaret Walsh of 1326 North Ninth street lay sick and helpless in the rear of her little grocery store Tuesday morning Patrick Holden robbed her of $3.50 morning Patrick Holden robbed her of $3.50 which she had under her pillow.

Holden entered the place to dispose of a case of eggs. In a warrant issued Wednesday he is charged, together with Birdte McNamara, not yet under arrest, with the theft of the eggs from in front of Schramm & Fisher's grocery store, 1531 Cass avenue.

No warrant could be issued for the theft of the $3.50 from Mrs. Walsh, because she was too sick to come to the Four Courts to swear to the information.

WILL WALBRIDGE FIGHT DE OLD MAN?

There Are Rumors of Reorganization in the House of Delegates.

The Split-Up Came When Filley Abandoned Walbridge's Gubernatorial Boom.

When the House of Delegates reconvene in September the present organization will find itself beset with a stubborn opposition, which doubtless it wots not of now, and if Speaker Delckmann can held on to his gavel much longer than it takes some one to make a motion for reorganization he will prove himself a great statesman indeed. Reorgan-ization of the House of Delegates is neither infrequent nor difficult of accomplishment All that is necessary to effect it is the dis majority of votes.

From the inner circle of the Walbridg cuit the secret has leaked out that no less a person than the Mayer himself gives his approval to the scheme of reorganization, if, indeed, he did not devise it. If this be true, then the matter assumes a political phase of no mean importance. It is well known that the House as at present organized is the handlowrk of Bess Filley. Then if Mayor Walbridge has taken it into his head to smash Uncle Filley's beautiful machine to smithereens the inference is that His Honor has determined to move in columns of echelon against the breastworks of your Uncle and batter away at them until "de Ole Man" is either routed from the field and driven into retirement or is brought to terms on several propositions. The chief of these is perhaps the Republican gubernatorial nomination in '96, which the puissant boss had at one time pledged to Walbridge, but later determined to bestow upon the Hon. Benjamin Franklin Russell for services performed as Speaker of the malodorous House of Representatives at Jefferson City last winter.

This, of course, presupposes a split be-

City last winter.

This, of course, presupposes a split between the Mayor and the Boss and the total dissolution of the political partnership which was formed by them immediately after Walbridge's nomination for Mayor over Filley's negative opposition. That their relations are strained not even the most close-mouthed friends of either will deny, and that there has been an actual break between them some of the less taciturn Republicans freely admit, citing as evidence of this the conduct of "De Old Man" in going off to fish at a time when the Mayor needs all the assistance he can get in making the appointment of an Election Commissioner with the least possible harm to party harmony.

ing the appointment of an Election Commissioner with the least possible harm to party harmony.

However, the main point at present is the truth or fallacy of the reported scheme for reorganization of the House of Delegates. Aside from the Mayor's alleged feeling of resentment toward the Boss on account of the Governorship, is the deairs on the part of his honor to get the Municipal Assembly in some short of shape to reflect credit on his administration. The present organization of the House has been a humiliating disappointment to the party leaders as well as to that element of statesmen whose sole visible means of support is "the stuff" they get for convincing the members of the fairness and entire legality of a certain class of bills.

But for this class of bills a great many members of the House could not afford to sit in that body and let their business interests suffer while they are serving their country for honor's sake. In support of the contention for reorganization it is pointed out that not a single important railroad bill has been reported by the Railroad Committee, of which George Grassmuck is chairman. It is held that the deposition of Delckmann and the elevation to the speakership of some such eminent parliamentarian as Becker or Kelley would mean such a shake-up of the indolent committees all along the line as would result in putting the energetic and alert Schumacher of the Sixth Ward at the head of the indicate committees.

Then, too, as the Mayor's term draws to energetic and alert at the nead of the inert committees.

Then, too, as the Mayor's term draws to a close and the time for nominating candidates for Governor approaches, it might be well to make a good showing of the public improvements made in St. Louis under the Walbridge administration. Nearly all the important recommendations of the B. P. I. have either been ignored or disapproved by the Dieckmann House Committees, and nothing better can be expected of them when the sessions are resumed next month. In the interest of the Mayor's gubernatorial boom, therefore, no less than in that of the when the sessions are resumed next month. In the interest of the Mayor's gubernatorial boom, therefore, no less than in that of the city, these committees ought to, and probably will, undergo radical revisions when reorganization is effected. In this connection it is convenient to state that several of the committeemen against whom complaint is made on this score say that they have opposed certain recommendations of the B. P. I. for vitrified brick pavements because they believe the adoption of these recommendations would add a good many thousand dollars to the bank account of the affluent, though young. Mr. Thomas Niedringhaua who is suspected of controlling an upper corner of the City Hall as well as a vitrified brick plant.

MISSISSIPPI SENTIMENT. Overwhelmingly for the Free Coinage of Silver.

Lawyer R. T. Brownrigg has return from a visit to his home at Columbus. Miss. the Mississippi State Convention, at which and a jour of the State. He says that even the Mississippi State Convention, at which the Missouri silver platform was adopted, furnishes no adequate idea of the overwhelming silver sentiment in Mississippi and the entire South.

"It is best indicated by the political experience of Gov. J. M. Stone of Mississippi, said Mr. Brownrigg to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "The cry is made that the silver movement in the South is the work of scheming politicians. If ever politicians were being driven by the people, it is being done in the South now. Mississippi greatly resembles' Kentucky politically. Usually friendship for the individual overrides the principle at issue. Now a man who is not imbued with silver principles has no chance at all. Gov. Stone is perhaps the most popular man in Mississippi. His present is his second term as Governor. He was Governor of the State during the reconstruction period, and saved it from bankruptcy by his upright and intelligent administration. Four years ago, when the State was again becoming financially embarrassed, the cry was 'give us back Gov. Stone' and they would have no other. He is now a candidate for Senator. "At the county primaries, where Gov. Stone's opponents would poll 1,600 votes, he could command but forty, and has been at the tail end of the ticket all through, merely because he is an avowed enemy, of silver. In Lyons Country, Mississippi, I found that there were but half a dozen opponents to free silver all told. At the county conventions, after passing resolutions demanding the free coinage of silver the delegates invariably added one stating that if what they declared could by any possibility be construed as permitting the nomination of any man regardless of his currency views they desired it understood that no man was to be nominated who was not positively known te favor the 15 to 1 free others governed to the favor the 15 to 1 free others.

PLANTERS' ARTESIAN WELL. Depth of 537 Feet Reached Through Solid Rock.

The artesian well being drilled in the alley of the Planters' Hotel for the supplying of water for the hotel has reached a depth of 53 feet. Limestone rock was struck at 100 feet, and the drilling has since bee through the solid stone. It is estimated that the solid limestone will not end until 800 feet have been reached. Three streams of water have so far been found, but none were strong enough to supply the needs of the hotel.

"As God is my judge," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "those people known on more of that crime than you do. I was convinced long since of Dr. Hearne's Innocence and now I am positive Mrs. Hearne is also entirely innocent. She is a noble little woman with the courage of a lion.

"When I went to see them, I impressed upon them the absolute necessity of puting me into possession of all the information they had. I cited to them cases where my knowledge of everything that had occurred had saved my client's life. They are people who could appreciate the importance of this and still they could tell me nothing. her longing being satisfied, because wheels are expensive luxuries and not to be had for the simple yearning. Chance stepped in and now Miss Kimball is the possessor of a beautiful safety for which she paid not a cent and which was not presented to her.

Early one memorable morning she stepped into the yard and there stood a bicycle, glistening in the sun and bright enough to be brand new. It was in her yard, leaning up against the fence. An exclamation of delight died upon the young lady's lips as she realized that the owner must be close by and that at all events a claimant must apon appear. It was a lady's safety, too, and just the right size.

With a heavy heart Miss Kimball put the bicycle in a place of safety and then hunted up the policeman on the beat. She told him about the bicycle and he ruthlessly trundled it down to the Fifth District Police Station. Capt. Boyd had the wheel advertised. Miss Kimball forced herself to forget the episode, which she could only remember with regret.

Still the wheel lingered in Capt. Boyd's office, doing no one any good. Monday Miss Kimball's mother received a note from Capt. Boyd, stating that no claimant for the bicycle having appeared after more than a reasonable length of time, it would be delivered to anyone she would send after it, and that Capt. Boyd would protect her in its possession against any wrongful claimants who might subsequently appear.

Miss Pearl Kimball has sisters, but as she herself found the wheel and was more anylous than her sisters to possess one, it was decided in family council that she should have it. So it is now affording her great delight.

"I tell you their position is a terrible one."

In reference to the letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Hearne to Richard Stillwell threatening exposure of some sort of scandal if he persisted in forcing an indictment, Col. Dryden said.

"There is nothing in that. Mrs. Hearne wrote either one or two letters to Elijah Hawkins, foreman of the Grand-jury, in which she referred to her long friendship to Dick Stillwell. She told how she had often stood between him and his father when the latter would have discharged him from his employ and put him out of his house. The tone-of the letters was that of deep regret that Richard Stillwell could think her guilty of such a crime."

The story that Col. Dryden had withdrawn from the case owing to Hearne's inability to raise the necessary funds, was denied. He said there had been no trouble at all between them.

HEADING STRAIGHT FOR A CRISIS.

Alarm Sounded by a London Paper on the Nicaragua Canal.

ENGLAND LOSING GROUND

Belief that the United States Means to Dominate Affairs in Central America.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The St. James Ga-tte this afternoon publishes a scare article asking how Great Britain stands with the United States Government in the matter of the Nicaraguan Canal, and says it will be well if the Rt. Hon. George N. Curzon, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, is asked to give some explanation on the subject in the House of Commons. Continuing, the St. James Gazette remarks: "As far as can be seen we are hearts straight for a crisis and there will be enther a diplomatic deadlock between the two countries or the English will surrender straight for a crisis and there will be enther a diplomatic deadlock between the two countries or the English will surrender important treaty rights. The deadlock can be avoided by discreet handling of the facts by the Foreign Office and a surrender need never occur. Should a situation be brought about in which the United States finds it can ignore the United States finds it can ignore the United States of Central America, then good-bye to any hope of retaining, much less extending our commercial hold of the republics of the Spanish main, a market in which we already suffer from sharp competition from the Americans and Germans."

The St James Gazette then proceeds to rehearse the history of the Nigarsquan Canal, claiming that the accedence of the United States Government to the request of the Americans of the American Canal Co. to guarantee further capital for it would be an infraction.

can ignore the United States of Central America, then good-bye to any hope of retaining, much less extending our commercial hold of the republics of the Spanish main, a market in which we already suffer from sharp competition from the Americans and Germans."

The St. James Gazette then proceeds to rehearse the history of the Nigaraguan Canal, claiming that the accedence of the United States Government to the request of the American Canal Can to guarantee further capital for it would be an infraction of the Bulwer-Clayton treaty. The St. James Gazette then quotes Fresident Clavel land's reference to the canal in his message of 1894 and says:

These carefully weighed words were designed to create a minimum of distrust in the Foreign Office, and when read in relation to the consistent, moral support given by the United States to the company's enterprises and insistent demands of the United States people that their Government guarantee the whole capital, come what may, it is piain that the ultimate object is not so much the cutting of the canal as the firm and final esablishment of the United States authority in Cenral America. With the canal completed wholly by the United States the independence of the republic would merely be nominal. It is true that English financial assistance was sought by the American syndicate lest the United States Government faiter in giving the guarantee, but these negotiations have collapsed because it is not proposed to allow the English capitalists their due share of control, which is sufficient indication of the exclusive power the Americans mean to exercise on the Isthmus. The cardinal point of the whole matter is, Does the Government mean to enforce the Bulwer-Clayton treaty? If so, will she join the United States guarantee of the capital? If not, what steps have been taken to secure the neutrality of the canal and the equality of rights and opportunities of British subjects? It is conceivable events may so shape themselves in the near future that the United States will be practical

Gen. Buel Inundated With Letters from Mutual Reserve Members.

MISTAKES OF THE COMPANY

Supt. Pierce of New York Shows How the Company Drifted Into Its Present Predicament.

Gen. James W. Buel continues to be over-run with callers and inundated with letters from policy holders in the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association. Letters of inquiry come from Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, In-diana and electrons and the mutual and and the second

J. S. Guerrant, Sedalia, Mo., writes that when he was raised he wrote asking what surrender value attached to his policy. The reply told him none.

W. W. Jarvis, banker at Troy, Ill., received a like reply.

Dr. Charles E. Michel, 2925 Washington avenue, was raised from $46.15 bi-monthly to $1.10. He offered to surrender for a cash consideration, but his offer was declined.

Dr. McKeage, 1856 Garrison avenue, was raised from $8.50 to $12.22, and now he is raised to $21.06.

Dr. J. M. Kellar, Hot Springs, was raised or whether they can come into the St. Louis movement.

Phil L. Grissler, Evansville, was raised from $3.30 to $48.90; John Wackes, Stanberry, Mo., from $2.06 to $45.15.

Gen. Buel wants it known through the Post-Dispatch that he only took the initiative as a policy holder and cannot undertake to reply to each letter. As to out-of-town correspondents he suggests that they form separate organizations to co-operate with the St. Louis organization. All who desire protests to file with their payments can have them by applying to Gen. Buel at his office on the fourth floor of the Fagin building, 810 Olive, between il and 1 daily, or by enclosing stamp for reply.

The plan of procedure is for a mass meeting of policy holders to be called in September, at which an organization will be formed. Each policy holder will probably be assessed a small amount per $1,000 to bear the expense of litigation.

"Under the later policies the Mutual Re-

"Under the later policies the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association appears to reserve the right not only to increase the assessments according to age, but to fix the rates," said Attorney F.-H. Baker previous to his departure for New York yesterday, "and I am not sure of what rights the holders of such policies have. But there are earlier contracts which fix the maximum rates that can be charged, and these rates are printed on the back of the contract and are made a part of it. It may be the law of Missouri and other States to require the company to make good any deficiency in the death fund, but the earlier policies are contracts between the company and policy holders, which I do not think can be overcome. "But there is another question at issue.

"Superintendent Pierce, in his report on the Mutual Reserve, under date March 27, 1895, calls attention to the reserve fund. The rates are based on the American mortality table with 33 1-3 per cent added for the reserve fund. That is, 25 per cent of the premiums paid goes to the reserve fund, and it is stipulated that 'the reserve fund above 1100,000 and in excess of sums represented by outstanding bonds may be applied to the payment of claims in excess of the American Experience Table of Mortality."

"Supt. Pierce in his report says:
"It appears that since January, 1839, 25 per cent of the net mortuary assessments have not been placed to the credit of the reserve fund, such a credit not being required under the provisions of Section 3, Article 11 of the Constitution or by-laws, which is in contradiction of Section 1 of this same article, providing in part for the creation of a reserve fund, specifying the above percentage to be placed therein. The experience of the association has demonstrated the section of the section has demonstrated the section of cent of the net mortuary receipts placed in such fund. Twenty-five per cent of the net assessment not being carried to the reserve fund, this section of the constitu-tion or by-laws is now inoperative and should be rescinded."

"On policies issued from 1883, the holders were artified to honder tion or by-laws is now inoperative and should be rescinded."

"On policies issued from 1883, the holders were entitled to bonds proportionate to their insurance to be issued five years after date of policy, the principal to be available for the payment of future dues and assessments ten years after date. This is provided for in Section 4 of the constitution and bylaws adopted Feb. 9, 1882. It was readopted in the constitution of Jan. 10, 1883, Jan. 14, 1885, Jan. 25, 1887, and Jan. 25, 1888, and the same constitution and by-laws are still in force.

force. The question of bonds and bond statements," says Mr. Pierce, "was submitted to Judge Spencer, counsel to the State Insurance Department. He holds that to the membership from 1883 to 1885, to whom bond statements were issued, bonds should have been given; that the amount of the value hereafter to become due on said bonds is contingent, indefinite and uncertain. Such a condition or state of things in the affairs of a great corporation by which a large future liability is created and exists, even if it is contingent or indefinite, should be corrected."

Gen. Buel is a holder of some of these bonds. He supposed them to be available for payment of assessments and dues at maturity, and he does not see that he has been released from liability to pay increased assessments in view of the present increase.

The other side of the case is put in the following communication:

To the Editor of the Peat-Dispatch.

Seeing your publication in regard to the Mutual Reserve Fuhl Life Association, I feel Impelled to write a word of caution to those members who may asstily and imprudently follow the III-advised movement looking to the appointment of a receiver for its business. Even if such a movement could be successful, which is entirely problematical and quite unlikely, no good, but only barm, could result to the policyholders from such a course. Does anybody but the receiver ever get any benefit in such cases? Gen. Buel and his followers would tear down a beneficent institution without considering the calamittous results of success.

NOT FINALLY SETTLED.

of the legal situation as it stands at present.

"This matter has been pending for several months," said Mr. Parker. "The first mortgage holders of the Atlantic & Pacific not being satisfied with the management of the present general receivers of the system, applied for the appaintment of separate receivers for the A. & P. on the ground that it suffered by the present management through discrimination in the matter of freight tariffs. This is the application that was refused by Judge Collier last Thursday, But his refusal was conditional. He intimated that he would reconsider the application again in the future if the differences are not adjusted by the three masters in chancery."

In the action of the Masters in Chancery may lie the key to the whole situation. They are three in number and constitute what in reality is a Board of Equalization to adjudicate differences between the various reads that constitute the Santa Fe system. This chancery board now consists of J. P. Johnson of Topeka, Kan., for the A. T. & S. F.; Georra D. Reynolds of St. Louis for the St. L. & S. F., and E. B. Warren of Albuquerque, N. M., for the A. & P.

Warren of Albuquerque, N. M., for the A. & P.
The board will meet some time between now and September & to discuss this matter of freight discriminations. It is imperative that it act before October 1, br the court will again take the matter up of its own accord. Although the board will undoubtedly make a herculean effort to effect an arrangement satisfactory to the Frisco and A. & P., there is little prospect of an agreement being reached. If the first mortgage bondhoiders are dissatisfied with the action of the Masters in Chancery they will probably again appeal to the court and renew the application for separate receivers. Is this they may be joined by the Frisco as outlined in Tuesday's Post-Dispatch.

ceivers. In this they may be joined by the Frisco as outlined in Tuesday's Post- Dispatch.

It is thought by close students of the situation that this plan of ultimate separation is too deeply rooted in the minds of the bulk of the bondholders in the Frisco and Atlantic and Facific, to be easily eradicated, and that every possible scene to accomplish that end will be pursued. It behooves St. Louis business men to have a hand in these plans, and money, as well, if need be. A proposition to furnish the capital to connect the Frisco with the Atlantic and Pacific might encourage the separatists to greater efforts.

This meeting of the masters in chancery, the importance of which may now be seen, will either be held in St. Louis or New York. It should be held in St. Louis by all means, that no move may escape the watchmeans, that no move may escape the watch ful eyes of local business men. That Ch cago will have an eye to her interests a this meeting goes without saying.

Life is a regular cake-walk to Clarence A. Sinclair, known as the captain of the Branch Guards in military circles; as the North End painter among his business acquaintances; and until recently as an ardent lover by two West End style and until recently as an ardent lover by two West End girls.

The latter role caused the once gallant captain much annoyance and newspaper notoriety, but it's all over now. When a girl really loves a man she will do almost anything for him and that is how Sinclair accounts for his sugar-coated exit from a prospective mother-in-law's wrath and the claims of a filted bride "to-be." The latter was Miss Annie Boyd, a flaxen-paired, blueeyed girl, living at 4034 North Grand avenue.

Her friends and relatives spoke for her and said that Sinclair would be punished.
But the broken-hearted little woman objected to any proceedings against the man she once loved. Several enthusiastid lawyers said it was a beautiful case of breach of promise, but she would not be a party to it, and definitely announced herself, just a few days ago, when she left the city to try among new scenes to forget what was a mere incident of Capt. Sinclair's life and a tragedy in hers.

But she said she could not bring herself to mar the happiness of the newly-married couple.

mar the happiness of the newly-married couple.

Since the recent announcement of Capt. Sinclair's wedding Miss Boyd's life has been little more than a troubled dream. The shock left her shattered in health and spirits. She hay in bed for weeks with high fever. She thought the whole matter over and decided to do nothing. It was just like a story she had read; mere fiction in a book, but so real to her. Capt. Sinclair had said in the newspapers that he loved Miss Annie dearly and that he also loved his wife, formerly Miss E. Latina Vance. He could not marry both of them, was his excuse, and led the double courtship for so many years because he didn't know which he loved better.

While the jilted girl was raving with fever, her friends circulated reports that a suit for breach of promise would be filed. The cause of the trouble told a Post-Dispatch man that these reports didn't worry him.

"I can hardly believe Annie would do that to me," said he.

But he never knew how much truth there clair."

Capt. Sinchair, when seen, said that the trouble was all over and denied that there was ever any intention on the part of Miss Boyd to bring suit against him.

promises didn't go. They pitched him out

We ranked fourth in output in 1890 and the trade has increased im-"Prices in all lines of furniture are now

"Prices in all lines of furniture are now rising and will continue to do so. It is much easier for the manufacturer to sell on a rising market. Since 1890 prices have been on the decline, and there were scarcely any furniture men making money. The tide has turped, and I venture to say prices will be 10 per cere higher by the first of October than they were during July. Prices are bound to rise. Since the Glass Trust has been formed the price of glass has been increased greatly and there were few manufacturers who were not selling at cost of production.

ufacturers who were not selling at cost of production.

"Our trade is confined almost exclusively to the West and Southwest. At the present we can not compete with Eastern manufacturers on account of excessive bridge tolls. There are not over three furniture drummers who travel east of the river out of St. Louis, for the simple reason that Chicago and Indianapolis dealers can ship goods right under our nose at a better freight rate. We can ship all over Texas at a better rate than across the river.

One thing will shortly create a revolution in furniture circles. The trade is going to quit handling convict manufactured goods. It will not be a sudden change, but gradual. The dealers have come to the conclusion that it is bad and has tended to demoralize the trade. At the last meeting of the National Furniture Dealers' Association in St. Louis they took formal steps by a resolution to that effect."

Flower Mission Work.

The regular meeting of the Flower Mission was held this morning in the matron's office. Union Station. Flowers were received from Mrs. L. M. Brown, Mrs. Sayles, Mrs. Field, Mrs. Johnston and the Kirkwood W. C. T. U.

Donations of literature came from Mmes. Atter and Worster. A basket of pears came from Websfer, and Mrs. J. D. Thompson sent lemons. Money contributions were Miss Mamie Franklin, $2; a friend, $1.40. A most encouraging note was received from a member of the Salvation Army, stating what had been done with the flowers given by this mission to that work. It showed that over 200 bouquets had been distributed by them and noted several cases where the effect had been most marked and beneficial in the slum district. The hospitals visited to-day were City, Female, Protestant, Baptist, St. Louis Children's, Martha Parsons, Good Samaritan and Women's and Salvation Army.

HOW VOEPEL PROPOSED.

He Frightened Pretty Mary Rohlff, but They Were Wed at Clayton.

Handsome John Voepel is a barber at the Planters' Hotel, and he took pretty young Mary Rohlff of 3427 Missouri avenue which completed its organization at Niemann's Hall, Broadway and Carroll street, Tuesday night. Street parades and illuminations are among the schemes which the atterprising merchants have in mind. Street railway facilities in the way of transfer privileges, new franchises, the use of abandoned Third street railway tracks and the establishment of a public market are some of the things the association. "The affair was not an elopement. The girl's parents gave their consent to the amount of the association." We wish to boom Bouth Broadway by every legitimate means, "said Charles H. Thuner, president of the association." It is the property at Broadway and La Salle street. All of these projects will be broached in due time.

The spirit of the sixty merchants present was shown when the question arose in the adoption of the constitution as to who should be eligible to membership. The draft submitted provided that every South Broadway merchant or any one presented by such merchant might belong to the association if he was acceptable to the members. It was urged by some that the term South Broadway should be restricted to the territory between Chouteau avenue and Lyuch street, leaving out Carondelet. This proposed change was voted down.

tinues to have the call in realty circles. During the past month several large sales of acre tracts have been closed.

One of the largest deals of the month was closed Wednesday, the Maplehurst Realty Co. adding to its county holdings. A tract of twenty-one acres of land lying immediately east of Clayton on the Bonbomme road, the route of the proposed erectric road, was sold for $50,000. The Maplehurst R. E. Co. is composed of local and Chicago capitalists.

B. S. Barnes is the largest stockholder. He had three acres of land transferred to himself, which he will improve with a $50,000 stone dwelling. The plans have been drawn. The halls will have a wainscoting of onyx. Hand-carved fine wood will be used in finishing the interior.

The Maplehurst Realty Co. Intend to expend many thousand dollars beautifying the place, and sub-divide in acre lots, to be sold for building purposes. Heavy restrictions will be placed on the property, and an effort will be made to secure the cream of swelldom in the new district.

Many prominent local business men are negotiating for home sites in the new subdivision. Each purchaser must agree to occupy not less than half an acre for his home and private grounds.

Mr. Barnes is a member of the County Club, and several of the members, who are interested in the company owning the property, will also build there.

When completed it will be the finest subdivision in the west.

It has been decided to let the contract for the proposed wholessier's establishment, to be erected on the south side of Washington a venue, between Sixth and Seventh streets. The plans drawn by Architect J. L. Wees have been ad pted. A drawing of the front elevation of this building was published in the Post-Dispatch recently, but the minor details were not given, owing to the fact that the deal had not been closed. The site is at present improved with an old-fashioned three-story structure, 618x620 Washington avenue, occupied by E. A. Koerner & Bro. as a restaurant. Mr. Koerner owns the property and is backing the old structure will commence shortly. The new building will have a frontage of 50 feet on Washington avenue, extending back to St. Charles street. It will be constructed of stone and buff brick. It has been estimated that the cost will be something like $60,000.

Young girls are reticent through modesty, and often withhold what ought to be told.

Yet they are not to blame, for information on such subjects has been withheld from them, owing to the false interpretation of a mother's duty.

In such cases they should do as thousands of young ladies are doing every day: write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., giving as nearly as possible their symptoms, and receive her freely given advice and timely aid.

CONCERNING "RECOGNITION."

Mr. Maffitt says that in his conference Sunday afternoon with Mr. Alexander Sherwood, whose untimely death as the result of an unfortunate accident has carried mourning throughout the State, had been talking politics and that "the topic was the advisability of giving recognition to the nineteen new committeemen." This is strange language for the chairman of the State Committee to use. It is all very well for irresponsible attorin newspaper interviews to talk about giving or withholding "recogni-But the chairman of the State Committee ought to know better. He ought to know that it is just as absurd for the members of the old committee to talk about giving recognition to the new committeemen as it would be for the new committeemen to talk about giving recognition to the old members.

There is now but one Democratic State Central Committee in Missouri. It is somposed of the fifteen members who con stituted the State Committee prior to the meeting of the Pertle Springs convention and of the nineteen new members added by that convention. If fifteen of the new members should get together at the call of one of their number they would have precisely the same right and powers of giving or withholding "recognition" to the other members that th fifteen members of the old committee would have under similar circumstances. That is to say, they would have no right or power to do anything of the kind. new, would be simply an assemblage of individuals, with no more power to act or speak for the Democrats of Missour than an equal number of Democrats sum moned from the eldewalk would have.

All this talk about the "Old Commit ee" as a distinct entity is misleading. There is no "Old Committee" in existence There is but one State Democratic Committee, and it is composed of the thirty-four members designated and recognized by the State Convention. All the "recognision" that it is in the power of any Democrat to give was given by that convention. The State Convention is supreme, and its action is final and binding upon all members of the party.

When the State Committee meets, any action taken will be void and invalid unless a majority of the thirty-four members are present. When a meeting is held (and the method of calling it wa prescribed by the State Convention), if minority on any pretext refuses perform the duties imposed upon them as committeemen, it will be the duty of the majority to go ahead and perform the work intrusted to the committee by the onvention or by party usage. If the chairman of the committee does his duty, there is no occasion for disturbing him. If he refuses to perform it, a new chairman should be forthwith elected.

This is what the Democrats of Missouri expect, and their expectations will be met or they will know the reason why.

MR. LONG AND HIS FRIENDS

The School Board friends of Mr. Long e that temporary provision will be made by his appointment as principal of the Peabody School, but that a fight for his reinstatement as superintendent will be at once begun and continued.

The Post-Dispatch opposed the dismissal of Mr. Long from the superintendency tuse it saw no good reason for it and because harmony and some degree of permanence in the office are absolutely essential to the success of public schools. Mr. Long had been a careful, conservative superintendent, and without attempting to be brilliant or to make a Louis, for under his administration there was peace among those having the public schools in charge.

But the Board of Directors depo Mr. Long and installed an equally able and conscientious man in his place, Mr. Soldan. The proposition now made to compensate Mr. Long with a principal-schools of this city became utterly de-moralised because of contests over the superintendency which developed into reientless and bitter personalities. The Post-Dispatch opposed the dismissal of Mr. Long in the interest of existing peace. It will oppose a fight for his reappoint-ment on the same ground. It is sub-versive of displayers and praindicial to versive of discipline and prejudicial to every interest of the public schools to have a continuing warfare over the superintendency. Let the Board fix a tenure of office to that position, appoint some good man who will not be compelled to fight his way in and thereafter permit him to attend to his duties without being asked to stay awake nights considering how he can retain his job.

RECOLLECTIONS AS TO BOLTS. Speaking of itself the Francis organ says: "It has been in battles before and has some recollection of the ill-success of bolting leaders in enticing Democratio oters to piratical standards." It was in 1872 or thereabouts that the organ bolted, declared the Democratic party "a putrid reminiscence," and proceeded to bury it without ceremony.

But, to the astonishment of the organ, the Democratic party refused to stay buried, for it rose up at the next election and fairly swept the field.

Again, in 1875, when the Democrats of Missouri had nominated an irreproachable ticket, with Charles H. Hardin for Governor, the organ bolted with a fierce vindictiveness, carrying such able men as Col. James O. Broadhead and others along with it. The pretense for this bolt was that it was "a rebel" ticket. The Grange had nominated a mongrel ticket, with Maj. Wm. Gentry at its head, and the organ did its best for the election of Gentry. But when the returns came in the organ was once more astounded to find that Hardin had rethe largest majority any Democrat since the war. Moreover he made one of the best Governors Missouri ever had, and the re-sult of the organ's opposition to him was an enormous vote polled for him by the Grange itself.

Yes, the organ has "some recollection of the ill-success of bolting leaders in enticing Democratic voters to piratical standards," and in its latest effort to entice them to the gold standard it will have even less success than it had in its attempted enticements of 1872 and

MURDER MOST FOUL.

When the so-called Indian outbreak oc curred at Jackson's Hole. Wvo., the Post-Dispatch was the first newspaper to protest against what threatened to be another Indian butchery, and to point out that the entire commotion was most likely another trick on the part of white settlers and border toughs to make money by the calling in of the Federal troops On the same day that the lost-Dispatch made this protest, July 26 sensational reports were being sent East and published in all the papers, charging the Bannock Indians with having massacred from a dozen to seventy-five white fam-

By Aug. 1 the Post-Dispatch's protest was fully vindicated. The great massacre story was shown to be a canardone of those panic-making "scares" that the far West is cursed with periodically. It turned out that no white people has been harmed, but it was such that several Indians had been killed in ne Indian lost his life, but that one killing, being the result of a deliberate plan for gain, is truthfully condemned by Indian Commissioner George Bird Grinnell as "murder of the most foul and deliberate character." Mr. Grinnell says that the Indian out break, so-called, was a deliberate crempt on the part of the white settlers and traders in the vicinity of Jackson's Hole to boom business and bring money into lot of goods that had lain on their shelves for years. The Bannocks, according to Mr. Grinnell, were scared almost to good cause, that the Federal troops would wipe them out of existence. They no doubt bore in mind the Wounded Knee massacre of Indian braves, squaws and papooses, but it is charitable to assume that these Jackson Hole settlers and traders are mostly newcomers or so norant that they never heard of that ghastly affair. Whether they knew what they were azarding or not, the men who worked up the "scare" and are responsible for the foul murder of an unarmed Indian prisner should be brought to justice. It is time that this particular disgrace on the American name should be wiped out by teaching the offenders a lesson that will not be forgotten. OUR SCHOOL YEAR.

On Sept. 2 the public schools will re open, having been closed since the second week in June, a period of eleven weeks In those countries of Europe whose sys-tem of education is such that their schools can be said to compete with ours the summer vacation is limited to a month or six weeks. Here is a loss of at least five weeks education to our children, and the question is whether something cannot be done to avoid at east a part of this loss and give Ameri can school children a school year which will nearly if not quite equal in length that of England, France and Germany.

As far as climate is concerned, the schools in most of Northern Europe could be kept open the entire year, without the children suffering as they would here if the vacation were reduced withou some precautions being taken to make life endurable in the heated term. What those interested in education ough' to seriously consider is whether, by the use of ventilating fans, awnings to the windows, more frequent recesses, and school hours adjusted so as to avoid the hottest part of the day, it would not be possible to make study both endura-ble and pleasant to the children for some part of that period in the summer when schools are usually closed.

Mechanical devices for cooling the atmosphere are used freely in office buildings and elsewhere by people who do not expect to and cannot afford to shut up and go away for the summer. They would be as efficient in school-houses and would be of great use at other times than ship will meet with very general approval by the people and the indorsement of the Post-Dispatch.

But a fight to reinstate Mr. Long is a different matter. In other days the and dwellings and to leave that part of Whatever small towns and country dis-tricts may do, it is certain that big, rich cities such as St. Louis will sooner or later be compelled by public sentiment to make their school-houses as comforta-ble, summer and winter, as the best of-fice buildings or dwelling houses. And one of the first improvements introduced one of the first improvements intro-should be electric ventilating fans.

The Post-Dispatch has been criticised for saying that the so-called "sound money Democrats" in the West and money Democrats" in the West and South are bolters in intention, and will actual bolters when they find that they cannot force their views on the majority of the party. Proof of this is already abundant in the Kentucky cam-paign. The Courier-Journal is openly us-ing all its influence to defeat Senator Blackburn, and now its afternoon tender, the Evening Post, announces that because Gen. Hardin declares that the money plank of the Democratic platform of 1882 means bimetallism (which every Democrat assumed that it meant until the Administration took the other view), it will not support him. In other South ern and Western States the "sound money" men will bolt if they dare and knife the ticket if they daren't.

Wine Stained Tablecloths Wine Stained Tablecloths.

To take out wine stains from damask or tablecloth your success depends something on the length of time the stain has been left in. For instance, if lately done, holding the stained part in milk boiling over the fire will often remove it entirely. If of long standing, however, the stain may not yield to anything short of the following: Dissolve four ounces each of chloride of lime and common washing soda in three quarts of boiling water in an earthenware bowl. Strain and bottle it. Put half a pint of this in a bowl, and in a second have some beiling soapy water. Dip the stains for a few seconds only in the bisaching fuld and then rinse it out in the soapy water and send it to the wash rough dried.

To Keep the Silver Bright. To Keep the Silver Bright.

Various methods are recommended from time to time for keeping the silver clean and bright. But few seem to understand how to pack away silver plate that is not to be used for some time. Silver plate should always be cleaned with prepared whiting made into a thin paste with a little spirits of wine and the same quantity of water. When the silver is to be put away this same mixture should be carefully rubbed over it with a chamois leather and the plate enveloped in green baize bags, and if kept in a dry place in a good box it will be ready for use at any time, merely requiring to be carefully dusted when taken out of the bags until all the white powder is removed.

Kindness to Children.

To the Editor of The Post-Dispatch.

I don't know whether the stories of cruelty to little Susanka by his father are true or not. If not true it is cruel in the extreme to circulate them. "If" true the little fellow is better off away from his father. The story made up by his little sister about her attempted abduction helped to give cradence to the idea that the little san was gruelly punished at home. Children seldom run away from a home of love, forbearance and kindness, but they try to get away from their tormentors. Cruelty at home among children is apt to make hypocrites, liars and deceivers. Kindness and love have just the opposite effect and children love such a home and not naturally hate the opposite, and when their cruel tormentors are dead and gone the children are glad of it, and evem if they do not express it, they execute the memory of those who inflicted the cruel blows upon their tender bodies.

How it is that parents or school teachers, or anyone who has no power to resist, can inflict cruel punishments, I cannot comprehend.

MISTAKEN IDEA REGARDING THE COPELAND MEDICAL SYSTEM

Dr. Copeland Himself Inelate That the Term is Not Applicable to the Work of the Famous Medical Institute, as All Regular Ratients Pay a Small Fee.

Dr. Copeland objects to the use of the word charity as applied to the Copeland medical system, and not without reason. The aim of his system is to make the expensive than it used to be. But the Copeland specialists de not labor without compensation. Every patient under treatment is required to pay. All who are afflicted with aliments that require more or less protracted treatment and watching are subject to a nominal monthly assessment, the medicines alons being furnished free. But it is no more correct to term the system a charity, because the assessment is small, than to call the telegraphy or the railway a charity, because they embody a miraculous economy.

Charity used to be one of the lovellest words in the English language—pure enough for the lips of angels. The word, says Dr. Copeland, came originally out of heaven, but in this sinful lower world it has undergone blight and rot and become offensive, like the lips of some sunny paradise set in the clammy shadows of a barnyard. Lillies that fester smell more rank than weeds; and let a proud man feel that he is receiving charity and he will squirm and have fits. He will feel that he is receiving charity and he will squirm and have fits. He will feel that he is receiving charity and he will squirm and have fits. He will feel that he is receiving charity and he will squirm and have the best water to drink, the best newspapers to read, and the best light to see by. But so, in the same sense, though in a different direction and ma less degree, every merchant who lowers the cost of one of the cost of th

Western Tobacco Manufacturers in Session Here.

MILLIONS ARE REPRESENTED.

Manufacture of Cigarettes Contemplated Here and Elsewhere on an Unprecedented Scale.

The meeting of the tobacco manufacturers at the Planters' Hotel Wednesday morning was attended by Messrs. M. C. Wetmore of the Liggett & Myers Co., H. I. Drummond and R. B. Duls of the Drummond Tobacco Co., Christian Peper of the Christian Peper Tobacco Co., Paul J. Sorg of the P. J. Sorg Co., Middletown, O.; Oren Scotten and E. C. Way of Detroit, Mich; Nicholas Finzer of Louisville, Ky., P. Lorillard, Jr., of Jersey City; Robert McGinnis of Buchanan & Lyle, New York, and P. H. Mayo of Richmond, Va.

These gentlemen met in Parlor B of the Planters at 10 o'clock and went into executive session. The session lasted until nearly 1 o'clock, and when adjournment was reached a Press Committee, of which Col. Wetmore was chairman, was appointed to give out such information regarding the meeting as was deemed advisable. Those in attendance positively refused to discuss the meeting or its objects and surrounded themselves with an atmosphere of secrecy that could have been cut with a knife.

The statement given out by the Press Committee was as follows:

"At the meeting held at the Planters' Hotel Hon. Paul J. Sorg was elected Chairman and H. I. Drummond Secretary. The Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. and the Drummond Tobacco Co, reported that they were piacing machinery for the manufacture of cigarettes, which report was received with unanimous approval and expressions of good will by all manufacturers present, who all expressed a desire to see the machines now in operation here at work, with a view of using them if they proved satisfactory. The meeting was har monlous and adjourned to 4 p. m."

Wednesday afternoon the visitors went up to the warehouse of the Elliot cigare te machine was made under supervision of Mr. Elliot. The workings of the machine were watched with great interest by the visiting manufacturers and by a large number of local tobacco men. The Drummond Company also has a machine in operation. The output of the two machines will be put on the market at once in order that the factories may be bonded.

Bedy of a Man Supposed to Be Fimer Erast at the Mergue.

the river the foot of Barton street at moved to the Morgue. It was that of young man between 22 and 22 years of fe, attired in a white and pink striped. It is black diagonal coat and vest, gray tr ers, balbriggan underwear—nearly new i a pair of nearly new No. 7 shoes. All the hothing was of good quality and had the appearance of being recently purchased.

The body looked as if it had been in the water about two weeks.

Several letters were found in the coat pockets addressed to Elmer Ernst, 100 St. Clair svenue, East St. Louis, and one was written on a Brunswick-Balke Collender Co. letter head.

A call at the office of the Brunswick-Balke Co. elicited the following information from the assistant book-keeper.

"Elmer Ernst came here from Cincinnati early in the spring and was a friend of William H. Gross, our bookkeeper. He spent considerable time around the place and asked if he might have his mail addressed here.

"A short time ago Mr. Gross got him a position as weigher with the Swift Packing Co. of Bast St. Louis, and since them we have neither seen nor heard anything of him. Whether he held his place or not, I couldn't say.

Later, Mr. Gross called at the Coroner's of him. Whether he head his pull of him. Whether he head his pull i couldn't say. I couldn't say. Later, Mr. Gross called at the Coroner's office and positively identified the body.

Wear, Boogher & Co. Will Absorb Janis, Phillips & Co.

The dry goods firm of Janis, Phillips & Co., now doing pusiness at Ninth and Locust streets, will go out of existence on Dec. 1. The stock then on hand will be purchased by the Wear-Boogher Dry Goods Company, in which concern, it is reported, Mr. Phillips will invest $100,000. Mr. Phillips was originally a member of the firm of Janis, Saunders & Co., and when Mr. Saunders withdrew, becember, 1885, the name of Mr. Phillips was substituted for Mr. Saunders in the designation of the firm. Mr. Janis has not yet revealed what his future course will be. The Wear-Boogher Dry Goods Company will occupy the present Simmons Hardware Company premises as soon as that company takes possession of its new quarters in the Cupples block. by the Wear-Boogher Dry Goods Company, to make it in.

All was ready. The lime was put in, but no one can tell just how the explosion happened. There was a hissing and boiling and finally a loud report. The hot lime flew in all directions. The faces and hands of the mixers were blistered and boiled. Mrs.
Pfeiffer and the boys had all been standing about the teb when the explosion occurred. Mrs. Pfeiffer's eyes were so badly burned it is feared she may lose her sight.
Her hands were also painfully burned.
Robert, the boy, was also seriously injured

Daring Female Bandits.

PERRY, O. T., Aug. II.—Jennie Metcalf, nee Stephens, aged 16, and Annie McDoulet, aged 14, two notorious outlaws who ride astride and go heavily armed, were sent to the reform school to-day on pleas of guilty to stealing horses and selling whisky to Indians. The older girl, Jennie Metcalf, has been arrested four times in the past three months, escaping from her captors twice. It was only after they had fired twenty shots and exhausted their ammunition that the girls were arrested Sunday.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 21.—Attorney Grant Rosenzweig returned to-day from Kaskaskia, Ill., where he has taken thirty depositions in support of the claim of Antoine Gillis, that he is the only begotten son of the late William Gillis and the sole heir to the $2,000,000 estate left by him. Wm. Gillis lived his early days in Kaskaskia and came to Kansas City when it was a trading post. He became wealthy here and died in 1870, leaving his estate to Mary Troot. Since then the property has fallen into many hands. Antoine Gillis is a half-breed Indian who lives in the Indian Territory. The suit will be tried at the fall term of court.

WHERE HAS ALL THE MONEY GONE?

Startling Shortage in Librarian Spofford's Accounts.

HOPELESS TANGLE.

For Twenty Years He Has Run Things to Suit Himself and Never Submitted to Supervision.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The World has a

Washington special which says: The thousands of friends and admirers of Ainsworth R. Spofford, the venerable Librarian of Congress, will learn with pain that his financial affairs, as Librarian of Congress and Chief of the Copyright Bu-reau, are in an inextricable tangle and that his shortage to the Government is at least $35,000, and may be an amount above that sum, which can never be ascertained on sum, which can never be ascertained on account of the destruction of the Library's account books and his failure to keep anything approximating a correct record of receipts and disbursements.

The detailed report of Treasury Expert Myers of the Fifth Auditor's office, who has been investigating his accounts, has shown so serious a condition of affairs that Secretary Carlisle has laid it before the President Cleveland giving his opinion of the startling developments in language so vigorous and denunciatory, that Treasury officials who were aware of it have been daily expecting to hear of the dismissal of Mr. Spofford.

That this result can not be delayed much longer is the opinion of all who have been made cognizant of the full extent of the mismanagement of the financial affairs of the Congressional Library. The report of Expert Myers shows that Treasury funds have been misappropriated; that thousands, possibly hundreds of thousands of dollars, have been lost or wrongfully disposed of and that false and fraudulent vouchers have been presented at the Treasury Department by Mr. Spofford for payment.

There are on file in the Treasury Department pay vouchers drawn by Mr. Spofford, in the names of clerks, for much larger sums than were actually received by those clerks, and it is shown that he has for years been drawing salaries for positions which have been purposely kept vacant by him.

In addition, Expert Myers has discovered that Mr. Spofford was collecting fees for for years been drawing salaries for positions which have been purposely kept vacant by him.

In addition, Expert Myers has discovered that Mr. Sponford was collecting fees for which there was no legal authority, amounting to between £300 and $300 a month, and making no returns to the Treasury Department of them.

So badly mixed were the Librarian's accounts and such was the strain involved in the attempt to straighten out the tangle, that Expert Myers, his work accomplished so far as possible, has succumbed to nervous prostration, and is now at Asbury Park on sick leave endeavoring to recuperate. It is expected that his report, and the decision of the President upon it, will be made public within a few days.

During the twenty odd years that Mr. Sponford has been in control of the Congressional Library, he has been a law unto himself in and around that institution. He has never had to submit to supervision. He has never before been called upon to account for the moneys expended by him. He has never been asked to give a detailed statement even of the moneys received by him, and which, under the law, were required to be turned into the Treasury. He has employed or discharged his assistants at will. His was the only sceptre recognized in his small dominion.

Several cases have been discovered during the course of the investigation where employes of the library have held positions with salaries of $100 a month, although they only drew $50. Mr. Spofford has explained this by saying that he made the $100 pay the salaries of two men, thus giving the Government more and better service. The employed in this way, and think that it could hardly have been done without their knowledge.

Expert Myers discovered another avenue for the escape of money which the Treasury for the for the escape of money which the Treasury know of no instance where new men were employed in this way, and think that it could hardly have been done without their knowledge.

Expert Myers discovered another avenue for the escape of money which the Treasury officials are inclined to believe serious. Librarian Spofford has, it appears, without authority of law, been in the habit of charging and receiving fees for making a search through the copyright archives in answer to geteries for information. These are called "search fees." In amount for the last four years, they have been averaging from $150$ to $250 a month, and at no time has there been any accounting to the Treasury for them so far as Mr. Myers can discover.

In Washington Mr. Spofford has the reputation of knowing and being the only one to know the contents of all the million books and pamphlets in whose atmosphere he has lived so long.

He was born in Gilmanton, N. H., in 1825, and was appointed to his present position by President Lincoln in 1884, after having been for three years First Assistant Librarian.

In an interview Mr. Spofford makes the following explanation of the matter:

"The whole difficulty springs from the multiplicity of duties that have been forced upon me. I have had not time, in connection with my duties as librarian, to pay proper attention to those attached to the office of Register of Copyrights. The two positions should be made separate and distinct. I have recommended this to the Treasury Department, but of course they can do nothing towards divorcing the two offices without legislative action. I shall recommend the same to Congress when it meets. In the press of business it is true that my accounts have become somewhat involved, but I stand ready to make good any discrepancies that may be found by the Treasury Officials. I offered a short time ago to make up the deficiency of $2,000 that has been discovered, but it is not correct to say that that offer has been to my proposition.

"As for the matter of 'search fees' and its lilegality, it is a fact that there is not correct to say that that offer has been refused. I have received no definite answer to my proposition.

"As for the matter of 'search fees' and its illegality, it is a fact that there is no special authority in law for collecting such fees. But there is explicit authority in law for a charge for records of copyright and copies of copyright. The time of the clerk occupied in making the search is of value to the Government, and it seems to me only right that litigants and others desiring to use that time should be required to pay for it. I calculated that about fifty cents an hour was the value of the time of my assistants who were employed on this work, and I based my charges on that calculation.

"Every dollar that I have received from this source, and the requests for searches have been very numerous, I have turned into the Treasury, every cent. I have made no distinction between these fees and those received from copyrights, and have turned them all in as copyright fees. That is all I care to say on the subject."
